Manic abstract; the rush of images collecting into a glimpse into the ever-present eye. Abstract; as the quantity and collection of moments becomes so great as to provide a cross-section of the whole. The pointillistic grain tightening to form an image of a moment taken out of context.

Literally hundreds of feet of 35mm film were used to collect these images, yet this is just the tip of the iceberg of the experiences I "captured" while traveling or just sitting on my ass. These photos provide a narrative for me and diary of sorts in the constant fever pitch of my mind's wandering eye and desire to reproduce and replicate in monochrome; however, these could be but snippets of a fiction for you.

JVP, September 2016.
